

Stellar Structure, Evolution and Nucleosynthesis

Raphael Hirschi

Astrophysics, Keele University, Keele, United Kingdom

After a brief introduction to stellar evolution, I will review the various ingredients of stellar models, their uncertainties and how they affect the structure and nucleosynthesis. I will then highlight some recent results and present ongoing projects in the field.